Since alcohol is the principal preservative in USDA-certified organic products, an ingredient to avoid due to its drying effects, we follow the European standard established by Ecocert, Europe's leading organic certifier, that supports organic skincare without the use of alcohol.

In addition to being certified organic by Ecocert, Gaelle Organic products are registered in the European Union in compliance with EU Cosmetics Regulation 1223/2009, the upgraded consumer protections that came into effect in 2013. We welcome the higher safety standards in Europe and hope U.S. regulators follow suit to improve the safety and integrity of the products we put on our skin.
